

adtaxi

Social Media Power Drives Ecomm Growth

Adtaxi Drives an 11.85x ROAS for USA Kilts

USA Kilts, a specialty retailer known for custom-made kilts and traditional Scottish attire, turned to Adtaxi to help achieve measurable growth.

Despite their strong organic social media presence, USA Kilts sought expert guidance to convert engagement into tangible results, prioritizing ecommerce sales and a higher ROI.

The client faced unique challenges. Their ultra-niche audience's limited reach and reliance on social media and programmatic solutions left gaps in performance. Additionally, issues with product feeds, tracking, and site functionality hindered their ability to scale.

To address these challenges, Adtaxi implemented a multi-faceted digital strategy. We leveraged platforms like TikTok, Meta, programmatic, and The Trade Desk (TTD) to expand reach and engagement. Daily feed monitoring ensured accurate data flow, while custom scripts optimized campaign performance. Collaborating with the client's webmaster, we resolved critical site issues and conducted thorough pixel quality checks after every update to maintain tracking integrity.

The results have been exceptional for USA Kilts. Adtaxi's strategic campaigns exceeded ROAS goals, driving significant ecommerce revenue growth. Purchase volume and average sales peaked significantly, with ROAS showing a notable year-over-year increase. By combining innovative strategies with meticulous execution, Adtaxi helped USA Kilts overcome their challenges and achieve sustainable growth in a highly specialized market.

CHALLENGES

Limited audience due to ultra-niche target market

High ROAS expectations

Product feed, tracking, and site issues hindered performance

SOLUTIONS

Strategic budget allocations to maximize reach

Creative diversification with gender-specific targeting and retargeting

Daily feed monitoring and custom scripts to optimize performance, pixel quality checks

RESULTS

$536.7K
revenue generated

$11.85
ROAS for campaign
(+48% over goal)

1.6K
tracked purchases

Delivering Exceptional, Quantifiable Success

To drive ecommerce growth, USA Kilts, a niche retailer of authentic Scottish attire, partnered with Adtaxi. Despite a strong organic social following and a physical storefront, the brand had reached a growth plateau. Technical hurdles and market challenges limited its ability to scale online, prompting the need for a strategic partner to unlock new revenue opportunities. The goal was ambitious: achieve an 8x return on ad spend (ROAS).

Facing Multiple Challenges

USA Kilts' primary challenge was scaling in an ultra-niche market. While its craftsmanship set it apart, digital advertising performance lagged due to reliance on limited channels, ongoing product feed and tracking issues, and unsophisticated targeting. Frequent website updates by the webmaster often disrupted pixels and data feeds, resulting in unreliable performance metrics and hampering optimization efforts.

To move forward, USA Kilts needed more than campaign execution. The brand required a partner capable of stabilizing the technical foundation and transforming ecommerce from a supplemental channel into a primary revenue driver, all while working toward the 8x ROAS benchmark.

A Hands-On, Expert-Led Strategy

Adtaxi implemented a comprehensive, human-powered approach designed to expand reach, strengthen infrastructure, and drive conversions. Recognizing that algorithms alone would not solve the problem, the team took a hands-on role that combined technical rigor with strategic creativity.

The first priority was stabilizing the data ecosystem. Adtaxi conducted daily product feed monitoring to ensure accuracy and implemented custom scripts for precise performance tracking. A direct, collaborative relationship with the client's webmaster was established, along with strict pixel quality checks following every site update. This foundational work ensured every advertising dollar could be accurately measured against revenue.

With reliable data in place, Adtaxi expanded USA Kilts' digital presence across paid social platforms, including Meta and TikTok, as well as programmatic display. Leveraging The Trade Desk (TTD), the team reached high-intent audiences beyond the brand's existing followers. Dynamic retargeting campaigns used the now-stable product feed to deliver personalized ads featuring specific products users had shown interest in. This diversified, full-funnel approach allowed USA Kilts to engage customers at every stage of the buying journey.

Driving Meaningful Business Growth

The results exceeded expectations. The campaign delivered an 11.85x ROAS, which was 48% above the original target, generating over $500,000 in revenue and driving 1,590 purchases. Year over year, performance improved by $2.86, far surpassing projections. With an average order value of $337, the campaign successfully attracted high-value customers and translated strategic digital execution into measurable growth.

Ongoing optimization played a key role, including strategic budget allocation, A/B creative testing, and gender-specific custom targeting. By continually refining retargeting efforts and making data-driven adjustments, Adtaxi demonstrated the impact of a personalized, invested approach. Today, USA Kilts remains a valued Adtaxi client, reflecting a partnership built on trust, technical excellence, and sustained performance.

Key Insights

This success illustrates that growth in niche ecommerce markets is driven by disciplined execution and ongoing refinement. Establishing a stable data infrastructure and actively optimizing audiences, creative, and channels unlocked stronger efficiency and measurable revenue impact. A precise, expert-led strategy directly translates to higher ROAS and long-term scalability.