Transforming Enrollment Success

Omnichannel Strategy Drives Record Enrollment Growth at Community College

adtaxi

Prince George's Community College (PGCC) struggled with student recruitment due to disconnected digital strategies managed by various partners. Their messaging lacked consistency and failed to effectively engage their audience. PGCC partnered with Adtaxi to implement a cohesive and results-driven digital strategy.

Adtaxi performed an audit and developed a customized, data-driven approach for PGCC. By using an integrated strategy across platforms like programmatic and social display, connected TV (CTV), Meta, TikTok, and Google Search, we aligned messaging and allocated resources to the best-performing platforms promptly as needed. Managing everything under Adtaxi streamlined communication, improved execution, and ensured impactful outcomes. A key factor in the campaign's success was leveraging first-party data, enabling precise audience targeting and optimized campaigns that engaged prospective students at every step of their enrollment decision process.

The results were significant. PGCC experienced its first enrollment growth in years, increased traffic to course and program pages, boosted admissions page views, and saw more completed applications, setting the college on a path to long-term success.

A Results-Driven Solution

Facing consecutive years of declining enrollment, PGCC struggled with a fragmented digital strategy. Their approach, executed by multiple vendors, led to inconsistent messaging that failed to resonate with their target audience. Recognizing the need for a cohesive and results-driven solution, the college turned to Adtaxi as a trusted partner to revitalize its campaigns.

After conducting an in-depth audit of their existing strategy, our experts implemented a streamlined, data-driven digital solution tailored to their needs.

Using an Omnichannel Approach

Leveraging a sophisticated omnichannel approach, we activated key platforms including programmatic display, social display, CTV, Meta, TikTok, and Google Search to create a cohesive and agile strategy. This integration ensured seamless alignment in messaging across channels while allowing us to reallocate resources to top-performing platforms in real time By consolidating efforts under one vendor, Adtaxi eliminated silos, improved communication, and executed with precision.

Key Insights

Understanding audience demographics and behaviors proved essential—not only for precise targeting but also for crafting messaging that truly resonated with their target audience. Adopting an omnichannel strategy delivered exceptional results, as each platform contributed significantly to driving conversions. Notably, December 2024 marked the start of TikTok conversion tracking, while data from the prior 11 months only covered metrics like impressions and clicks. This comprehensive and data-driven approach underscored measurable impacts across all channels.

First-Party Data

Critical to the client's success was first-party data to optimize campaigns and refine audience targeting. This detail-oriented approach allowed our team to engage the target audience at each stage of their decision-making process, ultimately supporting the college's overall marketing and enrollment objectives.

Impressive Performance

The results surpassed expectations for the client. For the first time in years, PGCC saw a surge in enrollment.

Throughout 2024, Adtaxi's efforts drove 234,154 course and program page views, 131,495 admissions page views, an impressive 1,061,997 view-throughs, and 27,867 completed applications—all at a cost of just $10.74 per completed application.

Sustainable Success

Adtaxi's streamlined approach, data-driven strategies, and platform expertise reversed years of declining enrollment and positioned PGCC for sustainable, long-term success.

This comprehensive partnership exemplifies the power of a unified digital strategy and underscores Adtaxi's commitment to delivering measurable, impactful results for its clients.
